The RLABA reserves the right to assign participants to any area and any space as the RLABA sees fit for the overall benefit of the event.

Absolutely all materials brought in by participants for the Street Fair must be removed. This includes, but is not limited, to any boxes and trash. Both street and sidewalk space must be cleared. Failure to do so will result in being barred from participation the following year.

No spaces may be transferred, assigned, shared or exchanged without prior notice and approval of the RLABA.

By purchasing a space, the applicant acknowledges that no insurance coverage is being provided by the RLABA for their benefit during participation. By purchasing a vendor space, participants agree that the RLABA and its authorized agent(s) shall not be liable for any loss, theft, damage or disappearance of any property or for any injury to any person assigned space for this event, their agents or employees, including reasonable attorney's fees for defense thereof, from any cause or whatever reason, prior to, during or after the event. Participants also agree to indemnify and hold harmless the RLABA and its authorized agent(s) from any claims related thereto.

By agreeing to these terms, participants also agree to comply with all applicable laws and follow directions of public and/or event officials especially those involved with this event.

The RLABA reserves the right to require any party violating Street Fair rules, terms of this agreement or any attached announcements to vacate the event. The RLABA and its authorized agent(s) reserve the right to terminate this agreement at any time for any reason without prior notice, without incurring any liability whatsoever for early termination.
